The Cappuccino collection is a brand of Dinal Diamonds established in 1971. The vertically integrated company imports and exports rough and polished diamonds, and also manufactures high-end jewellery. The jewellery brand is renowned for using varied shades of champagne diamonds to make the collections look versatile and appealing. The Cappuccino collection has three sub-brands namely the

Espresso collection (a fusion of Indian and Western influences), the Latte collection (a traditional, handcrafted bridal line that marries exotic with classic aspects of design employing champagne diamonds, precious gemstones and pearls), and the Irish collection (a high-end line that features a cluster of diamonds that resemble a solitaire.)

The company believes in catering to the diverse needs of its customers by bringing out several editions of its distinct brands. ■
